Please find below and/or attached an Office communication concerning this application or proceeding.

The time period for reply, if any, is set in the attached communication.

Office Action Summary	Application No. 10/618,573	Applicant(s) MAVUNKEL ET AL.
	Examiner Rita J. Desai	Art Unit 1625

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 5-10 are pending.

The rejection of claims 8-10 under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by DN 107:197769 Ishida Tatsukazu et al. still stands. The reference clearly teaches the compounds and its activity which is "as aminating agents for the synthesis of drugs and agrochemicals.". It is silent as to which atom is getting aminated.

Applicants own specification teaches the Boyles reference teaches the N amination by a similar compound. Thus with this teaching in the art, it is inherent that the DN 107:197769 compound also follows the same process for amination.

Thus the 102 rejection still stands.

The rejection of the claims 1, 5-7 under 35 USC 103 still stands.

The applicants are arguing

1) that the motivation is coming from the specifications. This is not correct.

The motivation is coming from the prior art. The prior art has the same use. Amination.

2) The reference does provide a small genus. The genus is really the same the halo, alkyl or haloalkyl.

3) The compounds of Ishida are the same as applicants compounds, see RN 42865-91-8. These do not have multiple nitro groups.

4) That the applicants compounds have identified a specific problem and are trying to solve it, is not convincing because the prior art has already shown that the same compounds are used for amination. So just stating that it has properties which are inherent as these properties would inherently have been in the prior art too, does not make it unobvious.

5) Finally applicants argue they described a clear preference. The lack of a specific example of that aspect of the invention should not be determinative of obviousness, since no examples are required.

This is also not found to be convincing because the compounds are disclosed in the prior art. Hence to show the unobviousness applicants need to show that the examples have been made and they have been reduced to practice. In absence to examples and a clear and convincing comparison the obviousness rejection still stands.

Conclusion

Claims 1, 5-10 are still rejected.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
